Course Description:

The Neonatal Resuscitation Program (NRP) is an educational program jointly sponsored between the American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) and the American Heart Association (AHA). The NRP course conveys an evidence-based approach to care of the newborn at birth and facilitates effective team-based care for healthcare professionals who care for newborns at the time of delivery. NRP utilizes a blended learning approach, which includes online testing, online case-based simulations, and hands-on case-based simulation/debriefing that focuses on critical leadership, communication, and team-work skills.

Intended Audience:

The intended audience for this course includes pediatricians, emergency physicians, nurses, paramedics, respiratory therapists, and other healthcare professionals who may be involved in the first critical moments of a newborn infant's life. The Neonatal Resuscitation Program (NRP) course format requires learners to self-study the material from the Textbook of Neonatal Resuscitation, 7th edition, and take a mandatory online examination BEFORE attending their NRP course.

Prerequisites:

Participants must possess a current American Heart Association Basic Life Support card. Copy of Current AHA BLS card must be uploaded to the registration site, if course was not taken at Cooper University Hospital. BLS must be current the day of course in order to register online.

The Life Support Training Center reserves the right to deny course registration requests if all required information is not provided.
